

robertsandor@hotmail.com

Printed: Wednesday, September 28, 2005 5:37 PM

From : Michael Clatts <michael.clatts@ndri.org>
Sent : Wednesday, September 28, 2005 1:53 PM
To : <robertsandor@hotmail.com>
Subject : Robert.

Robert.

FYI. The article that we are publishing on our work in the Poz Parties is slated to come out tomorrow. The journal has apparently released a press release about the article and I am being deluged with calls and emails from press and news service people around the world wanting more information. I also got a call from the National Coalition of PWA's in DC.

Most of these people seem to want to know more about the research data, rather than the parties themselves, but I am imagining that some of them may end up figuring out how to reach you via information from the web. So this is a heads up to you that you may get calls.

Also, FYI, most of the people that I have talked to are not too happy to hear about Poz Parties, so if you decide to speak with them (you are under no obligation to do so), you should be prepared for the fact that some of these folks will not be fans and also that they are not likely to be convinceable. In short, you may want to avoid talking to these folks because they are not likely to be interested in advancing your cause.

Mic.